

You have the right to receive a “Good Faith Estimate” explaining how much our health care services will cost

Under the law, uninsured or self-pay patients can request an estimate of their bill for health care services before those services are provided.

- You have the right to receive a Good Faith Estimate for the total expected cost of any healthcare services prior to scheduling an appointment or after you’ve scheduled a future appointment. This estimate includes the cost of lab tests, medications, equipment, and supplies.
 - If you schedule a health care service 3-9 business days in advance, you can request your health care provider give you a Good Faith Estimate in writing within 1 business day after scheduling.
 - If you schedule a health care service 10+ business days in advance, you can request your health care provider give you a Good Faith Estimate in writing with 3 business days after scheduling.
 - You can also ask your health care provider for a Good Faith Estimate before you schedule an appointment. If you do, the health care provider will give you a Good Faith Estimate in writing within 3 business days of your request.
- If you receive a bill that is at least $400 more for any provider or facility than your Good Faith Estimate from that provider or facility, you can dispute the bill.
- Make sure to save a copy or picture of your Good Faith Estimate and the bill.
